DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. Figures 3a-3c should be designated by a legend such as --Prior Art-- because only that which is old is illustrated. See MPEP § 608.02(g). Corrected drawing sheets are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Specification

2. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

3. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it contains legal phraseology "comprises" (e.g. line 1). Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1, 6, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hirota et al. (6,348,809).

Regarding claim 1, Hirota et al. discloses a measuring device comprising (figure 4) a semiconductor substrate (121); an electric element provided on said semiconductor substrate (121) and having a plurality of electrodes (123, 125); a plurality of first terminals (Where element 72 is connected) (Hirota et al. does not explicitly disclose. It is inherent that every integrated circuit must have plurality of terminals, for instant, terminals 4d in figure 2, which Applicant admitted as prior art) each electrically connected to each one of said electrodes (123, 125) of said electric element; a plurality of guard rings (71, 81) made of conductor; and a second terminal (82) electrically connected said guard rings (Elements 71 and 81 are virtual ground, it virtually connects to ground).

Hirota et al. does not explicitly disclose guard rings (71, 81) are arranged such that said guard rings (71, 81) surround said first terminals.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to incorporate the guard rings (71, 81) as taught by Hirota et al. into the system of Hirota et al. because Hirota et al. taught that "the core 72 and the shield 71 are at the same electric potential, and any parasitic capacitance generated between the core 72 and the shield 71 can be canceled." (Column 5, lines 23-26).

Regarding claim 6, Hirota et al. discloses every subject matter recited in the claim (Hirota et al.'s figure 5) except for the guard rings surround said measurement terminals, as discussed in claim 1.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to incorporate the guard rings surround terminals into the system of Hirota et al. for the same reason as set forth in claim 1.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 2-5 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
